Flying ahead...

Welcome back to Dear Neighbour, our newsletter that keeps you updated on West Suffolk Operational Hub, Bury St Edmunds.

October has seen a major milestone of the project being commenced. Steelwork has been manufactured, delivered and installed to the depot and workshop building. Other groundworks activities continue to be progressed which include drainage works and foundations for the remainder of the buildings. All piling works to the project are now complete - circa 360 piles.

Next month we will be looking to commence the roof cladding installation to the depot and workshop building which will then release activities such as Mechanical and electrical containment, internal partitions and external wall cladding.

Barton Hill road closure - Residents of Barton Hill and local parishes will have received information on the Barton Hill road closure. This will commence on Monday 12th November 2018 in order to carry out a new foul drainage installation. The works will be split into two phases either side of the Christmas Fayre period. This will ensure the road remains fully open during this busy event.

Please be sure to keep an eye out for signage & information around the area. A route will be maintained for residents of this road only. An approved diversion route will be in place, so be sure to follow the signs provided. We will of course keep you updated on the progress of these works.

Coffee morning - We will hold a coffee morning on site on Thursday 22nd November @10am to discuss the above works so residents can raise any concerns from the first phase. Spaces will be limited so please email Danny Branson to book - danny.branson@morgansindall.com.

A drone flyover has been undertaken on site - the first of many. Please check our YouTube page to see this in full:
